THIRD YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., FRIDAY, AUGUST 17, 1894.

ONE CENT.

IT'S SO IF IT'S IN THE LEDGER.

A BAD ACCIDENT.

The M. P. Wells is Disabled at Stony Point Yesterday.

The M. P. Wells, on her up trip yesterday, and when near Stony Point, broke the crank wheel on the left side, knocking out both cylinder heads and throwing the pitman in the river.

There were about forty people on board bound for the Ripley Fair, and it is useless to add that they were scared.

The Wells went to the bank immediately, and Captain Edgington, who is one of the most obliging river men in this section, telegraphed for another boat, which put the crowd into Ripley for the fair all right.

The boat will likely be laid up about a week, but the Silver Wave will be in her place until her repairs are complete.

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop me a note to that effect.

Miss Katie Bierley is visiting friends in Ripley.

M. R. Gilmore is in Cincinnati today on business.

WE HAD A CINCH!

The Maysvilles Too Fast Company For the Irontons.

There was a very small crowd out yesterday to see the locals win the most lustrous game of the season from Ironton.

The locals went right in and hammered out a victory and quit.

Rooney went in to make faces at the locals, and during the five innings he stayed, he was battered all over the lot.

At the end of the fifth inning, after our boys had made a triple, five doubles and five singles, which scored eleven runs in the first part of the game, the contest would have certainly been an "interesting" one.

Wellner will pitch for the Maysvilles today, and the game promises to be a lively one, and there should be a big crowd on hand, as this will be the last game the locals will play at home for some time.

Rooney was taken out and Lauderbach was substituted and did well, his field giving him perfect support.

Sparks retired for the home team, and he has a record of fourteen strike outs.

He was touched up pretty freely at critical times and was poorly supported.

The following is the score:

ECHOES FROM THE GAME AND OTHER BASE BALL NEWS OF INTEREST.

The game this afternoon will be called at 3 p. m.

Wonder if Chan Jefferson witnessed the slaughter yesterday?

The locals will take a trip up through Central Kentucky next week.

Wellner has made a boat of friends here, and they will be out this afternoon to give him a hand.

Frank's slugging drive into "Salter" Brown's garden patch was a beauty, and it caught the crowd.

Rooney's delivery was slower than a gravel train on an up grade, and as easy to hit as a dish of ice cream.

There ought to be a large attendance at today's game in order to show our boys their efforts to win are appreciated.

Wadsworth offset his timely two-bagger that sent in two runs by three big errors at third, two of them being costly.

Cox played first base like Tom Tucker yesterday. He also did great work with stick, getting four hits one of them being a double.

Davis was unfortunate yesterday. He was the only one of the locals that didn't get a hit. He hit the ball hard enough, but it always landed smack in an Ironton's hands.

The locals play the Irontons again this afternoon at Hillsborough, who finished the game for the Irontons yesterday and did so well, will be in the box today for the visitors. The Irontons played a good game in the field yesterday, and had they not been weak in the box they would have made the locals play hard.

A large load of campmeisters came in from Hughes yesterday.

Reunion Army and Navy Virginia. The reunion at Ironton, O., on August 30th, 30th and 31st promises to be one of the most interesting ever held. The C. & O. Railway will make a rate of one fare for the round trip, and an immense turnout is expected.

A REGULAR DAISY

He Deserts a Wife and Five Children in This City.

The following, clipped from The Columbus (Ind.) Daily Times, may be of some interest to some people in this city:

Early in April, 1893, a stranger came to this city, and gave his name and residence as "James D. Samuels, Mayville, Kentucky." He worked at various places about the city at odd jobs, and finally for a farmer near the city. He talked freely about his Kentucky home, saying he had been married, but that his wife was dead and that he soon expected to come into possession of considerable farm land in Mason county, Kentucky, which he would inherit. He joined the Holiness Band and took an active part in the street and hall services of the Salvation Army and was well known to many of our citizens.

Some three or four months ago he got into the good graces of one of the sisters of the Holiness Band, a widow lady drawing $12 a month pension money, and went to board with her. He soon began paying attention to the widow, and poured his lot of woe into her eager ears. How lonely things seemed to him as he wandered around from place to place alone in the world, and of the cares of Bluegrass soil he expected to come into his possession, and that if he would only consent to marry they would be only as happy, etc. The widow listened to his plaintive pleadings and then thought of Uncle Sam and the $12 he contributed to her wants monthly, and she hesitated.

Some time later, he finally consented to marry him. About this time a butcher's passbook, with the name "J. S. Beckett, Mayville, Ky.," was found in his possession by the widow, and on questioning him about it he said the book belonged to a friend of his at Mayville and he had accidentally brought it away with him. He then said he had a cousin at Mayville, Dr. Samuels, a prominent physician and surgeon, to whom they were going to see.

A letter was then written to the Clerk of the Mason County Circuit Court, giving all the details of the man and his doings here and the answer soon came from John Jones, Clerk, that the man's real name was James D. Beckett, that Dr. Samuels was no relation, but had, he thought, treated Beckett for a wound he had once received by the hands of a colored man on account of undue familiarity with his family affairs, stabbing him in the back with a knife, that Beckett was a fraud and had deserted his wife and children in Mayville over a year ago and had not since been heard of. This letter was shown him, but he denied the charges stated. A letter was then written to his wife at Mayville, and the following answer came:

MAYSVILLE, Ky., July 13th, 1894.
M. B. Hanson: I received your letter today stating that the man out there by the name of James Samuels, it is James Samuels Beckett, and he is my husband and he has five living children. The children and I have to work very hard to make our living. As to divorce, he has never got any. He left last April a year ago and nobody knows where he went nor what he left for. I don't know that myself. He said when he left, home he would be back in a week, but I haven't seen him since. I have often thought he was dead, and as to him going to get married, I don't know what she wants with him, for he hasn't anything, and I think only a woman is worth for him to leave in the world with his poor little children, but I thank the Lord, I am able to help them earn their living. I wash and iron for people, and I hope I will live to help them earn their living. I am writing to you for writing to me about him. I ask you to please answer this as soon as you get it, and if you still think it is still there or not, and if you want any further information concerning me or my children please write to my nearest neighbor, Mr. Rebecca Tolle, 148 East Third street, Mayville, Ky. My number is 149 Chester street, Mayville, Ky., Sixth Ward. Yours truly, MARY BECKETT.

This about settled his luck, but he still denied it and insisted his name was James D. Samuels.

A day or so later the following letter came from Mayville:

Dear One: I received your kind letter today and was glad to hear from you, but sorry to hear you are not well, and hope this will cheer you up. I don't believe you would ever have written to me if I hadn't heard where you were and wrote to you. We are all well at this time, Jim, if you are sick, come closer home and when I hear from you again I will tell you more. Jim, take care of your self, and if you get sick come home to us.

your family; there's one who will take care of you. We were glad to hear from you. The children are all at work. They were all glad to hear from you. Jim, if you go away from where you are, write to me and tell me what you think of doing. Don't ramble over the wire. The children all send their love to you. Jim, write just as soon as you get this. Jim, you ask me to give you $3.00. Hoping to hear from you soon, good night. Write soon.

This letter, though it bore no name as to whom it was written and no signature by the writer, was undoubtedly from his wife. The envelope was addressed to "James S. Beckett," and the widow was fully satisfied that this was the true name and that he had a wife and children, and decided at once to stick to Uncle Sam and his $12 and drop Beckett. She then demanded $30 board bill he owed her, and $10 borrowed money he had got of her at various times, when he said a farmer out in the country still owed him, and he would go out and get the money and pay her. This was Monday last week, and he has not been seen since. He told a friend here he was going to Indianapolis to work for the Perry Manufacturing Co. He has not been seen or heard of since. The widow lady thinks she was fortunate to escape even this—only $40 out for her experience.

TOO LATE

Was the Message That Went to Chief

Delivered at Cincinnati.

The following was taken from yesterday's Cincinnati Enquirer:

Timothy McDaniel, the young woman who was found drunk on Third street and locked up for safe keeping, was in the Police Court again yesterday morning.

When she faced the Court all eyes were upon her. She pleaded guilty to drunk-ness and was sent downstairs. After

Court she was brought up. Judge Gregg told her that if she was ever brought before him again he would send her to the workhouse. He then let her go. A few minutes later the following message was received at Police Headquarters:

RECEIVED, OHIO, August 16, 1894.

Chief, Cincinnati. What particulars of the McDaniel case. If able send her home. Answer.

JAMES S. McDaniel.

An officer went to find Tim, but he could not locate her. At No. 74 Grand place the lady said that she did not live there. The police will pick her up again in a day or so, as she appears to be a slave to drink or some drug.

The young woman referred to in the above was at one time a clerk in a store

in this city, and the same she went by

here was Brookover.

She has been in Cincinnati for some time,

and from the tone of the above it would indicate that she was an old offender, as she has certainly been in the Police Court

before.

We are in hopes that she will be found

and returned to her people, and it may be that she can be saved.

A Salvation Army recruit testified that "he had been arrested 731 times in his life," and if that be the case there are hopes for this forlorn woman.

car was a necessary attachment to No. 4

LAID TO REST

Were the Remains of the Late Frank

Means Yesterday Afternoon.

All that was mortal of Frank Means

was laid to rest yesterday afternoon.

Frank Means was born August 10th,

1838, in this city and he became a Christian, a member of the Mayville Church,

at the age of 35. He moved to Bellevue,

Ky., where he had a wide circle of Christian friends. There he lived and studied to become an architect, but his mind became detached from reason from some unknown cause. The poor, unfortunate man realized his situation and went to Lakeland Asylum of his own accord.

There he remained for seven months.

He died on the 13th of August. He was visited by his sister while he remained at Lakeland, and all was done that was possible to have his mind restored by his loving parents.

The Knights took full charge of his remains, and he was buried with their pious honors.

Mr. J. S. Means and daughter return

thanks to the K. of P. and all friends whose displayed kindness was in sympathy.

THE RIPLEY FAIR.

A Heterogeneous Gathering of Who,

What and How in Attendance.

About 4,000 people were in attendance

at the Ripley Fair yesterday, including the tin race course.

The fairs were there in full force also.

The show rings were magnificent—just

the very best saddle, harness and combined horses. The contests for premiums were spirited, interesting and exciting.

All the big guns of Ripley loomed up among them. Most conspicuous was the grandstand, and form of Colonel L. L. H.

Williams. Many rumors are afloat to the effect that he is Ohio's choice and stands

a splendid show for being elected Commander-in-Chief of the G. A. R. at Pittsburgh.

It was Kentucky Day, more than one third of the crowd being from this state.

All trains were loaded from both ways,

and the "ball" went up, carrying a parade, life preservers, a rope, at where end dangled a man. The atmosphere being fair and clear the whole thing sailed up about 6,000 feet, when the man pulled the parachute loose and came down safely. There will be an other ascension today at 4:30.

The merry ring of T. S. Thompson and the French Coach Horse. Of course it got the prize.

Quite an accident happened to one driver during a ring of harness horses.

Six vehicles were in the ring, and a lot of speed was being given. The curves

are constant and short, and one man

(who afterwards drew the premium) was upset and dragged some forty feet,

never losing his presence of mind or the fact that he was up again in his seat.

Driving his mare—a beautiful one and a fast one—to the plaudits of the crowd and to the carrying off of the ribbon.

Leonard G. Cox and Miss Margaret

Roberts of Lexington, away up in society,

were married Wednesday by Rev. E. L.

Soultage.

Ex-Governor Simon Bulver Buckner

and his attorneys, Messrs. John Yerkes of Danville, and John Barrett, of Louisville, were at Harrodsburg Wednesday to settle a claim of $17,000 owned to ex-Governor by Col. Amos McCampbell, of Louisville, who gave a mortgage for same on his

Blue Grass farm of over five hundred acres in that county. Messrs. Rose and Coleman bid the $17,000 on 330 acres, or little over $48 per acre. Col. McCamp-bell has 190 acres and the residence left to him.

The Free List Tariff Laid Away

By the Senate.

A Motion to Refer Them to the Finance Committee Passes.

This Ends All Possibility of Any Further

Legislation of This Kind.

And Not Likely to Act on the Tariff

Bill For Several Days to Come.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—When the free sugar bill was called up at 2 o'clock

Thursday a motion to refer it to the finance committee was made and passed by a vote of 18-12. The other bills followed. This ends all possibility of any further tariff legislation at this session of Congress.

With the bills to the committee were offered amendments which have been offered to them, including Mr. Aldrich's proposal to amend the "sugar trust tariff bill." Mr. Manderson's amendment for a bounty on domestic sugar,

Mr. Jones' proposition to tax sugar 30 per cent. ad valorem on all grades and

Mr. Quay's proposition to re-enact the McKinley law.

The finance committee had a brief

session Thursday, and agreed to meet again Friday morning and go through the form of considering the bills.

Even should the committee go so far as to report a free sugar bill, Mr. Aldrich's amendment would be immediately offered,

and the chances of its adoption are so strong that

the democrats of the finance committee will, doubtless, be wise enough not to run such risks.

The senate adjourned till Monday,

having heard that President Cleveland's trip to Buzzard's bay would last until Tuesday.

The president must return to Washington next week if he is able, as the sun-dry civil and deficiency appropriation bills and his action on them will be immediately upon receiving the president's approval it is most important that collectors of custom houses should be given an opportunity to become familiar with its provisions.

A Family Feud.

SHREVEPORT, Mo., Aug. 17.—A feud

which has existed for years between the families of the Aldrichs and the Switz-

ers, culminated yesterday night in a general fight. The fight took place at the Aldrich meeting held at the Swiss church. Knives, railroad spikes and clubs were the weapons used. Henry

Aldrich, father of the family, was beaten to death. Three other men were cut and one of them, Fred Parson, died of his wounds this morning. John and

Newton Aldrich, Clay Northern and four sons of Aldrich received serious injuries.

Sheriff Tanner secured some of the weapons, and is searching for the others.

Fight Over Can of Beer.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 17.—At 8 o'clock

Thursday night Will. Ringlin, aged 20, shot two brothers, John and Frank

Brennan, who were shot squarely in the forehead, and is mortally wounded.

Patrick was shot in the groin and forearm, and is dangerously hurt. The fight was over a can of beer. Last April

young Ringlin brutally kicked Kate

Burns, aged 17, whom he had betrayed.

She suffered premature maturity, and died in consequence. The murderer was at liberty under heavy bail. He made his escape Thursday night.

A Flimsy Servant Girl.

WARRICK, Ind., Aug. 17.—A servant girl named Charles Warrick, who was in this city, Wednesday night, but in the kitchen they encountered

Miss Mary McKinnon, a domestic servant, and the robbers commenced shooting, and five shots were exchanged

without anyone being hit. The desperates, however, were compelled to flee,

and the young woman fainted as soon

as they disappeared.

QUESTION OF PUNCTUATION.

One of Great Interest to Wearers of Diamonds.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The copy of the tariff bill in possession of the chairman of the house enrolled in the capitol,

by which the bill sent to the president was compared and verified and which is regarded as unquestionably the same as the president's copy, contains the following paragraph in the free list:

Free list 467, diamonds, miners' gas-

sets, and engineers' diamonds, not set,

and diamond dust hurt to be used in the manufacture of watches and clocks.

It is the semi-colon after the word diamonds in the beginning of the paragraph that is considered of such importance. Senator Jones, of Arkansas, insists that the semi-colon will not be construed so as to admit all diamonds

of free duty. The intention, he said

was to have the word diamonds made

THE POPULISTS

Of Ohio Hold a Convention Under a Tent.

John McBride, Jacob Coxey and Grand Master Sovereign Present.

A Fusion With the New Labor Party Accomplished. The Platform of the Laborites Was Adopted With the Addition of a "Good Roads" Plank.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17.—The populist convention opened under a large tent at Camp Nelson woods, Thursday morning, with free admission. There were present Jacob Coxey, John Selts, Grand Master Sovereign, John McBride, and others.

The gavel fell upon an avowed movement upon a plow as Chairman Reader, of the state central committee, called to order nearly fifteen hundred people, many of whom were there merely to see a free show. While they waited, the populist speakers went to the platform, and W. H. Crawford, the Jersey Simpson, of New Stratville, sang "Keep Off the Grass," which was enthusiastically received.

Mr. Reader announced as temporary chairman Hugh Cavanaugh, of Cincinnati, and C. E. Martin, of Tiffin, secretary.

The formal act of fusion was then accomplished, the convention agreeing to Secretary Martin to call the committee on resolutions prepared to represent the populists in a conference with the labor party.

There were then calls for "Glen" Coxey, who came forward with an hour and twenty-minute speech. The committee reported the following: Chairman, John Selts, of Seneca; secretary, H. H. Butterworth, of Hamilton. Mr. Selts indulged in general remarks, some of which he put on greenback, prohibition, labor and other side-lane conventions for a good many years.

Meanwhile the populist speakers were meeting under the trees and several more speeches were inflicted upon the audience. L. A. Stockwell, one of the editors of the American Non-Comformist, indulged in considerable abuse of Senator Sherman, whom he charged with offering against the conditions and made responsible for Mr. Stockwell's incapacity as a farmer.

Mr. Sovereign addressed the convention. He made the significant statement that "the day of strikes is over. We must capture the American government by ballots, and if any man attempts to recapture it with bullets shoot him on the spot."

Mr. Sovereign was followed by Geo. E. Ernst, a Cleveland attorney, who addressed the audience in stentorian tones upon the alleged wrongs from which the power of the government is derived.

The joint committee on platform reported to the joint convention the platform adopted by the labor party Wednesday night, and the populist planks incorporating Coxey's views upon the subject of good roads and interest bearing bonds, and a plank favoring liberal penitentiary reform.

The platform is as follows: We assert our political position to be identical with those of the labor party, and we form a more perfect union, and establish just laws, and we will not be divided by the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty for ourselves and our posterity. We will not be divided by the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty for ourselves and our posterity.

A Witness Believed the Employers Would Be Better Treated by the Government—Cause of the Strike on the Rock Island and Pacific.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17.—President Cleveland, Dr. O'Reilly and Secretary Lamont left for Buzzard's Bay, Thursday. Private George Thurber made the following authoritative statement:

"The president left Thursday morning for a few days' absence, under the advice of his physician, in the hope of shaking off an attack of malaria, from which he has been suffering several days. Wednesday the attack culminated in a fever, but was under control Thursday morning. Dr. O'Reilly, physician, expressed no doubt that a cure would be effected by the president's absence, and he will return to his official duties, and he will return to Washington by the middle of next week. The president is in good health and is accompanied by Dr. O'Reilly."

"The president has never fully recovered from the attack of malaria which caused him to make the two trips in the lighthouse tender Violette down Chesapeake bay, and outside Cape Henry and Charles, and outside Cape Fear, and the president's recovery from the attack of malaria was due to the fact that he was in a position to relax and to make a change of air necessary."

At Jersey City they went aboard the John Rogers, a lighthouse boat, and proceeded to Buzzard's bay by water. En route here President Cleveland underwent massage treatment.
